place of other books formerly used.

The following recommendation shows the estimation in which these books are field by teachers.

We, the understand beachers, believing that the adaption of a uniform review of Elementery limits well advance the interests of our schools, have examined with care and unprejudiced minds, the Echectic and other schools books, and have adopted the Five Readers and Spelling Book of McGuffey's Eclectic series, and Ray's Archimetica.

These several works, are in our rainful more progressive and the rough, freer from inaccuraches of orthography and diction, and more morthy of general adoption, thus any similar series that has not our observation. once a week.
